

TREE TOLD

Never mind when you can not move. Look at me, I live at one place whole life, even then, I am doing so many things and become helpful to many while living my life. See at each level of life, my all parts are useful.

Also don't stop living after breakdown. My birth is from breaking of seed, so breaking does not stop me by growing. After breakdown, stay alone for some time. Spend some time with self. Recognize your strength and move on...

My roots are growing towards ground to search water and minerals. Do study with depth and in all directions.

My steam is useful for house building of men.

My branches are useful for birds to build their nest.

My leaves are useful for medicine.

My flowers are useful for fragrance.

My fruits are useful for eating.

I myself give you shadow. When I die, I become wood and which is useful for paper and furniture.

And you know, I behave equally with tree cutter and gardener. There is no difference in sweet fruit and cool shadow for anyone.

In short, be helpful to society and nature always everywhere. Try to live life by not counting days, but by counting the blessing which you get.
